NEW ATTEMPT AT NAVY PACT IS UNDER WAY

France and England Already In Accord With International Agreement.

By CLIFFORD DAY
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, July 31.—A new attempt at an international naval agreement—a sequel to the proposals that failed in the Geneva disarmament conference in February—is under way now with France and England already in accord

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the foreign secretary, in commons last night announced that Great Britain had reached a naval agreement with France.

"I am about to communicate the compromise to the other principal naval powers," Sir Austen said "I am hoping it may be acceptable to them."

The entire commons session had been one devoted to a discussion of peace time moves with the foreign secretary expressing the British reasons for a reserve clause in Great Britain's acceptance of the Kellogg anti-war pact. Britain had reserved the right to act in certain territories

"Does anybody think the United States, in proposing the pact, means to abolish or change the policy of the Monroe Doctrine? Clearly not In every arbitration treaty the United States has signed they have expressly reserved all questions relating to the Monroe Doctrine," Sir Austen said.

"We are not unreasonable when we state there are parts of the world where we too have a Monroe Doctrine. It is not a doctrine of aggression nor a desire for territorial expansion but a measure of self defense necessitated by the geography of the empire"

He pointed out that the anti-war pact might mean much or might mean little in the affairs of the world. He said much would depend on how the rest of the world thinks the United States is going to judge the action of the aggressor in any conflict that might arise.

"If American opinion collects behind the treaty, then the pact is an additional and formidable deterrent to war. This is what we hope, wherefore we are glad to co-operate to bring the proposal to fruition," he said

Sir Austen concluded by saying he hoped to go to Paris before the end of August to sign the proposal in behalf of the British empire.

His speech was cheered but David Lloyd George said in a subsequent speech that the British defense clause and the Monroe Doctrine was entirely different He pointed out that the Monroe Doctrine had "clear, definite geographical limitations which everyone knows but it is impossible to tell what this clause (the British anti-war clause) applies to"

He criticized the self defense motive saying such a move left open the chance that every country might interpret self defense differently. He pointed out that Germany still maintained the Word War was based on a self defense motive.

AGAINST SMITH BUT NOT IN A COMPLETE SENSE

"In So Far As They Affect His Vote On Two Issues, Editor Says.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 31—William Allen White, Republican editor of Emporia, Kas, today withdrew his charges against the legislative record of Governor Alfred E Smith "in so far as they affect his votes on gambling and prohibition but not his position as to the saloon."

"Governor Smith certainly is entitled to fair treatment," White said. "I always have tried to fight fair."

The Kansas editor's statement follows:

"Yesterday talking to Walter Lippmann of the World, a friend of Governor Smith and of mine for many years, I learned that Governor Smith was deeply agrieved that I should charge him with protecting gambling and prostitution in his assembly record I can understand after considering what Mr Lippmann said that the governor in casting those votes against those reform bills might honestly have felt that the bills were unconstitutional or were not enforcible or infringed upon personal liberty or encouraged police blackmail.

"These bills did not so impress others who voted for the bills but Governor Smith certainly is entitled to fair treatment I always have tried to fight fair. I have never consciously questioned any man's motives and so this morning before the morning papers have come and before I know what if any reply Governor Smith has made to my statement yesterday I desire to withdraw the charges formally in sofar as they affect his votes on gambling and prostitution but not his position as to the saloon.

"On the question of the menace of Tamany and of Governor Smith's Tamany record for the open saloon and the whole issue of the campaign is coming organized protected prostitution is quickly passing out of American life and that issue is not vital, but vital or not I could not in good conscience press this issue realizing that Governor Smith whom I greatly admire for his many high qualities feels that my charges question the purity of his motives which always should be granted in any political controversy So the ten or a dozen votes on gambling and prostitution come out of the record

"I hope now American newspapers and particularly Republican newspapers will give the same consideration to this statement that they gave my statement yesterday.

Georgia Tech Broad Jumper Establishes New Record For Americans.

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor.

AMSTERDAM STADIUM, July 31.—D. G. A. Lowe of England, successfully defended his Olympic 800-metre championship by winning that event with a brilliant burst of speed in the final today.

Fitzpatrick of Canada won the third heat of the 200-metre trials in 22.8 seconds, with Carlton of Australia second.

Byhlen of Sweden was second and Engelhard of Germany third. Lowe won by five metres. His time was 1 minute, 51.8 seconds, breaking the folmer Olympic record of 1:51.9 made by Ted Meredith of the U. S. at the 1912 games.

Eddie Hamm, Georgia Tech, established a new Olympic broad jump record when he leaped 7.73 meters (25 feet, 4.329 inches) in his first attempt of the day.

Alfred Bates of Penn. State also qualified for the broad jump finals.

The other qualifiers for the broad jump finals were Meier of Germany, Kochermann of Germany, de Boer of Holland, [illegible] Cator of Haiti. Cator was leaping splendidly, second only to Hamm.

Phil Edwards, the Canadian negro, was fourth in the 800 meters and Lloyd Hahn, American hope and the favorite, was fifth.

Just when it seemed that Hahn had the race won, Lowe, who had been at the Nebraskan's shoulder most of the way swept past the American rounding the last turn as though Hahn were rooted in his tracks.

Edwards challenged in the final drive, but faded before the Englishman's terrific pace. Lowe literally walked away from his exhausted rivals, who battled for the other places.

Seraphim Martin of France, was sixth. Earl Fuller of the Olympic club, California, seventh, Ray Watson of the Illinois A. C. eighth and Keller of France ninth and last.

Miss Robinson's time in winning the girls' 100 meter final was 12 2 seconds Miss Rosenfeld, of Canada, was second and Miss Smith of Canada, third.

Lilhan Copeland of Pasadena, took second place in the final of the girls' discus throw, won by Miss Konopacka, of Poland Miss Svedberg, of Sweden, was third.

Weightman-Smith of South Africa, set a new world's record by winning the third heat of the 110 meter hurdles in 14 6 seconds. John Collier of Brown University, was second in the heat.

NEW ATTEMPT AT NAVY PACT IS UNDER WAY

France and England Already In Accord With International Agreement.

By CLIFFORD DAY
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, July 31.—A new attempt at an international naval agreement—a sequel to the proposals that failed in the Geneva disarmament conference in February—is under way now with France and England already in accord.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the foreign secretary, in commons last night announced that Great Britain had reached a naval agreement with France.

"I am about to communicate the compromise to the other principal naval powers," Sir Austen said. "I am hoping it may be acceptable to them."

The entire commons session had been one devoted to a discussion of peace time moves with the foreign secretary expressing the British reasons for a reserve clause in Great Britain's acceptance of the Kellogg anti-war pact. Britain had reserved the right to act in certain territories.

"Does anybody think the United States, in proposing the pact, means to abolish or change the policy of the Monroe Doctrine? Clearly not. In every arbitration treaty the United States has signed they have expressly reserved all questions relating to the Monroe Doctrine," Sir Austen said.

"We are not unreasonable when we state there are parts of the world where we too have a Monroe Doctrine. It is not a doctrine of aggression nor a desire for territorial expansion but a measure of self defense necessitated by the geography of the empire."

He pointed out that the anti-war pact might mean much or might mean little in the affairs of the world. He said much would depend on how the rest of the world thinks the United States is going to judge the action of the aggressor in any conflict that might arise.

"If American opinion collects behind the treaty, then the pact is an additional and formidable deterrent to war. This is what we hope, wherefore we are glad to co-operate to bring the proposal to fruitition," he said.

Sir Austen concluded by saying he hoped to go to Paris before the end of August to sign the proposal in behalf of the British empire.

His speech was cheered but David Lloyd George said in a subsequent speech that the British defense clause and the Monroe Doctrine was entirely different. He pointed out that the Monroe Doctrine had "clear, definite geographical limitations which everyone knows but it is impossible to tell what this clause (the British anti-war clause )applies to."

He criticized the self defense motive saying such a move left open the chance that every country might interpret self defense differently. He pointed out that Germany still maintained the Word War was based on a self defense motive.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD RALLY AT LANCASTER

LANCASTER, O., July 31.—Joseph Ferguson, Lancaster, candidate for state auditor; William G. Pickerel, Dayton, for lieutenant governor; Thomas S. Wright, for U. S. Mason, Ashland, for Court of Appeals, will be speakers next Monday at the Democratic rally to be held at the fair grounds here.

AGAINST SMITH BUT NOT IN A COMPLETE SENSE

"In So Far As They Affect His Vote On Two Issues, Editor Says.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 31.—William Allen White, Republican editor of Emporia, Kas., today withdrew his charges against the legislative record of Governor Alfred E. Smith "in so far as they affect his votes on gambling and prohibition but not his position as to the saloon."

"Governor Smith certainly is entitled to fair treatment," White said. "I always have tried to fight fair."

The Kansas editor's statement follows:

"Yesterday talking to Walter Lippmann of the World, a friend of Governor Smith and of mine for many years, I learned that Governor Smith was deeply agrieved that I should charge him with protecting gambling and prostitution in his assembly record. I can understand after considering what Mr. Lippmann said that the governor in casting those votes against those reform bills might honestly have felt that the bills were unconstitutional or were not enforcible or infringed upon personal liberty or encouraged police blackmail.

"These bills did not so impress others who voted for the bills but Governor Smith certainly is entitled to fair treatment. I always have tried to fight fair. I have never consciously questioned any man's motives and so this morning before the morning papers have come and before I know what if any reply Governor Smith has made to my statement yesterday I desire to withdraw the charges formally in sofar as they affect his votes on gambling and prostitution but not his position as to the saloon.

"On the question of the menace of Tamany and of Governor Smith's Tamany record for the open saloon and the whole issue of the campaign is coming organized protected prostitution is quickly passing out of American life and that issue is not vital, but vital or not I could not in good conscience press this issue realizing that Governor Smith whom I greatly admire for his many high qualities feels that my charges question the purity of his motives which always should be granted in any political controversy. So the ten or a dozen votes on gambling and prostitution come out of the record.

"I hope now American newspapers and particularly Republican newspapers will give the same consideration to this statement that they gave my statement yesterday."

MOODY PILING UP LEAD IN NOMINATION

Dan Moody's majority in his race for renomination continued to grow today as additional returns from Saturday's democratic state primary were tabulated by the Texas election bureau.

At 10 a.m. today when the bureau announced tabulations from 247 of the 253 counties, including 109 complete, Governor Moody held a majority of 124,182 over his three opponents.

RAIL HEAD STRICKEN IN CALIFORNIA HOME

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 31. —Job Adolphus Edson, 78, since 1905 president of the Kansas City Southern Railroad, died late last night after a brief illness.

Edson, who had been connected with various railroad systems during his long career, retired as president of the Kansas City Southern Road January 1, and in June came to Long Beach with Mrs. Edson.

He formerly was president of the Texas and Ft. Worth road.

J. R. FLORENCE DIES AT HOME MONDAY NIGHT

Familiar Figure Who Headed Cemetery Board For 30 Years Stricken.

With the death of Jonathan Renick Florence, 80, familiarly known as Colonel Florence, which occurred at 9 p.m. Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Morris, 706 N. Court-st. Circleville has lost one of her most highly respected men and a member of one of the most prominent and oldest families of Pickaway-co. The grandfather of Mr. Florence Judge William Florence of Virginia came to Pickaway-co in 1806 and at one time owned 6,000 acres of farm land in Muhlenberg and Monroe-twps.

Jonathan R. Florence has been a resident of Circleville for many years, coming to this city from his farm in Jackson-twp. He held the position of superintendent of the Forest cemetery for nearly 30 years and while serving in that capacity was responsible for the landscape gardening which has made Forest cemetery one of the most beautiful burying grounds in southern Ohio.

For 40 years Mr. Florence has been prominent in Ohio Masonry and at the time of his death was a thirty-second degree Mason. He was also past eminent commander of Scioto Commandery, number 35 Knights Templars Past master of Pickaway lodge F. and A. M. No. 23. Thrice Illustrious master of Tyrian Council No. 60, Royal and Select Triasons, and a member of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite.

He was a graduate of Kenyon College, Gambier and a gentleman of the old type, and endeared himself to all with whom he had dealings. He was the son of Ezra and Sarah Ann Renick Florence and was born in Jackson-twp. on May 30, 1848.

On November 4, 1869, he was married to Miss Eliza Steely, who died October 31, 1923. He is survived by his daughter Mrs. J. M. Morris at whose home he died and two brothers, Elias Florence of Jackson-twp. and Gustavus of Chicago, Ill.

The death of his daughter, Mrs. Catharine Hische, which occurred in May of this year at Ringgold, Ga. and with whom Mr. Florence was living at the time, had a remarkable effect upon his health. Mrs. Morris being the only surviving member of a family of six daughters. Two grandchildren also survive, they are, Donald Morris of Kingsport, Tenn. and Ralph Morris of Columbus, Ohio.

Funeral services under the direction of the W. H. Albaugh Co. will be held at the home of his daughter, 706 N. Court-st at 3 p.m. Thursday with Rev. E. S. Toensmeier of the Presbyterian church of which Mr. Florence was a member, officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

MUCH STATE ROAD WORK IS PLANNED

MUNICIPAL-OWNED PLANT IS PLANNED

PADUCAH, KY., July 31 — Citizens of Paducah will be asked to vote a $800,000 bond issue in the November election here for a municipality owned utilities plant to compete with the Kentucky Utilities Co., and insull subsidiary.

The city commissioners here are behind the move, claiming the rates for gas and electricity furnished by the $2,000,000 Kentucky Utilities plant here are too high.

CITY PLANS FIGHT ON GAS SITUATION

COLUMBUS, O., July 31 —The State Utilities commission has received indirect word that residents of the city of Kenton are proposing action against the West Ohio Gas Co., which is allegedly serving sulphur gas to its patrons.

According to the commission the action will be either an injunction to be taken out in the Hardin-co, courts or an appeal to the commission for an order directing the company to cease furniishing the gas.

It was said the sulphur gas has spread an undesirable odor over the entire city.

START GAS WAR

COLUMBUS O., July 31 —Cities fighting the proposed increased rates of the Logan Gas Co., will present their briefs to the State Utilities commission tomorrow.

Georgia Tech Broad Jumper Establishes New Record For Americans.

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor.

AMSTERDAM STADIUM, July 31.—D. G. A. Lowe of England, successfully defended his Olympic 800-metre championship by winning that event with a brilliant burst of speed in the final today.

Fitzpatrick of Canada won the third heat of the 200-metre trials in 22.8 seconds, with Carlton of Australia second.

Byhlen of Sweden was second and Engelhard of Germany third. Lowe won by five metres. His time was 1 minute, 51.8 seconds, breaking the folmer Olympic record of 1:51.9 made by Ted Meredith of the U. S. at the 1912 games.

Eddie Hamm, Georgia Tech., established a new Olympic broad jump record when he leaped 7.73 meters (25 feet, 4.329 inches) in his first attempt of the day.

Alfred Bates of Penn. State also qualified for the broad jump finals.

The other qualifiers for the broad jump finals were Meier of Germany, Kochermann of Germany, de Boer of Holland and Cator of Haiti. Cator was jumping splendidly, second only to Hamm.

Phil Edwards, the Canadian negro, was fourth in the 800-meters and Lloyd Hahn, American hope and the favorite, was fifth.

Just when it seemed that Hahn had the race won, Lowe, who had been at the Nebraskan's shoulder most of the way swept past the American rounding the last turn as though Hahn were rooted in his tracks.

Edwards challenged in the final drive, but faded before the Englishman's terrific pace. Lowe literally walked away from his exhausted rivals, who battled for the other places.

Seraphim Martin of France, was sixth. Earl Fuller of the Olympic club, California, seventh, Ray Watson of the Illinois A. C. eighth and Keller of France ninth and last.

Miss Robinson's time in winning the girls' 100 meter final was 12.2 seconds. Miss Rosenfeld, of Canada, was second and Miss Smith of Canada, third.

Lillian Copeland of Pasadena, took second place in the final of the girls' discus throw, won by Miss Konopacka, of Poland. Miss Svedberg, of Sweden, was third.

Weightman-Smith of South Africa, set a new world's record by winning the third heat of the 110 meter hurdles in 14.6 seconds. John Collier of Brown University, was second in the heat.

VENDING MACHINES NOW IN OPERATION

Following the ousting of slot machines in Circleville by Mayor B. T. Hedges, new vending machines, said by their operators to comply with the law and the edict of the Attorney-General's office, have taken their place in the city.

The machines are operated entirely within the statutes, it is maintained.

Ellen was four, enterprising, observant and well educated, and her mother had gone to New York.

"And what, Ellen," said George, her father, "shall we do this beautiful Sunday afternoon? Mother has taken the car, so we can't go for a ride."

"I think," said Ellen, "I would like to go to the Copley-Plaza for tea." She had heard her mother say that.

In the hotel, a polite waiter handed Ellen a very large menu, covered with du jour and a la carte things.

"I think," said Ellen, "I would like an ice cream cone," thus breaking the Copley-Plaza record.

It is an interesting fact that the elevated and poetic connotations of the word "window" seem to have clustered about the "casement." It is stated that a certain schoolmaster named John James Hauberle had taught school 51 years. In that time he had given the youths entrusted to his care 911,957 blows with a stick, 24,410 strokes with a rod, 20,899 ferrulings, 136,715 blows with one hand, 10,226 slaps on the chops, 7,905 boxes on the ear, 1,115,000 raps on the head, 12,342 Nota Benes with the Bible, catechism, Psalm book and grammar, and had made boys kneel 613 times on peas and 777 times on a three-cornered block of wood.

Perhaps Not

Macaulay, one of the most brilliant Englishmen of his century, couldn't commit the multiplication table to memory. Mathematics proved too much for him. It is said Emerson was never quite certain about nine times seven. This supposed deficiency in mathematics on the part of men who are brilliant in other lines does not always really exist. Some men and women think they are unable to understand mathematics when the truth is they were badly taught. They may have the same capacity that others have, but they have approached the subject in the wrong way.

Many people have more intellectual capacity than they suspect. What they are afflicted with is not dumbness but mental indolence.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Why are women so much more expensive than men, although women have less earning capacity? It has been estimated that of every dollar expended for human welfare 79 cents go to women and children.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

POSITIVE AGITATION

Means a Lifelong Vacation from Drudgery

DIRT never takes a vacation. Day-long, month-long, it sifts and filters into the home, to find a favorite hiding place in carpetings and rugs.

That means drudgery for the homekeeper, a never-ending and never-won struggle.

But now the homekeeper has a new friend and ally in her fight against dirt, one offering her a lifelong vacation from the drudgery of cleaning by old methods.

This new friend and ally is The Hoover and "Positive Agitation"—enabling faster, easier, deeper cleaning of floor coverings than ever before.

Why not let "Positive Agitation" lighten your homekeeping burden and give you extra hours for the pleasanter things of life?

You can enjoy its benefits now not only in the world-famous Model 700 Hoover but in a lower-priced Model 543 Hoover as well.

What Does the
IGNITION SYSTEM
Mean To Your Automobile?

The motor, rear axle, and other mechanical parts of your automobile are of vital importance to its operation. But these parts can not function properly without the ignition system in good working order. The Ignition System is a complicated set of wiring, etc., to the average driver, and should have the scientific attention of a specialist, when needing repair.

We have a fully equipped shop to handle all kinds of battery and ignition work, which assures you satisfactory repair and perfect operation from the electrical system on your automobile.

Bring your car in and we'll check the ignition system for you.

of Pickaway County.

Primaries, August 14, 1928.

Attended Balthaser Business College and completed the course in Normal and Bookkeeping work and certificates were issued to teach.

Mr. Young gave up the teaching profession to enter the business world. He was in the Wilkes store for 14 years and was elected Recorder of Pickaway county in 1914. While in the Recorder's office Mr. Young took up the study of law from the American Correspondence School of Law, Chicago, the largest in the world for home study. For the past nine years Mr. Young has been with the Colwell Clothing company in Circleville.

In my opinion, if elected I can fill the office in a creditable and satisfactory manner. Your support will be appreciated.

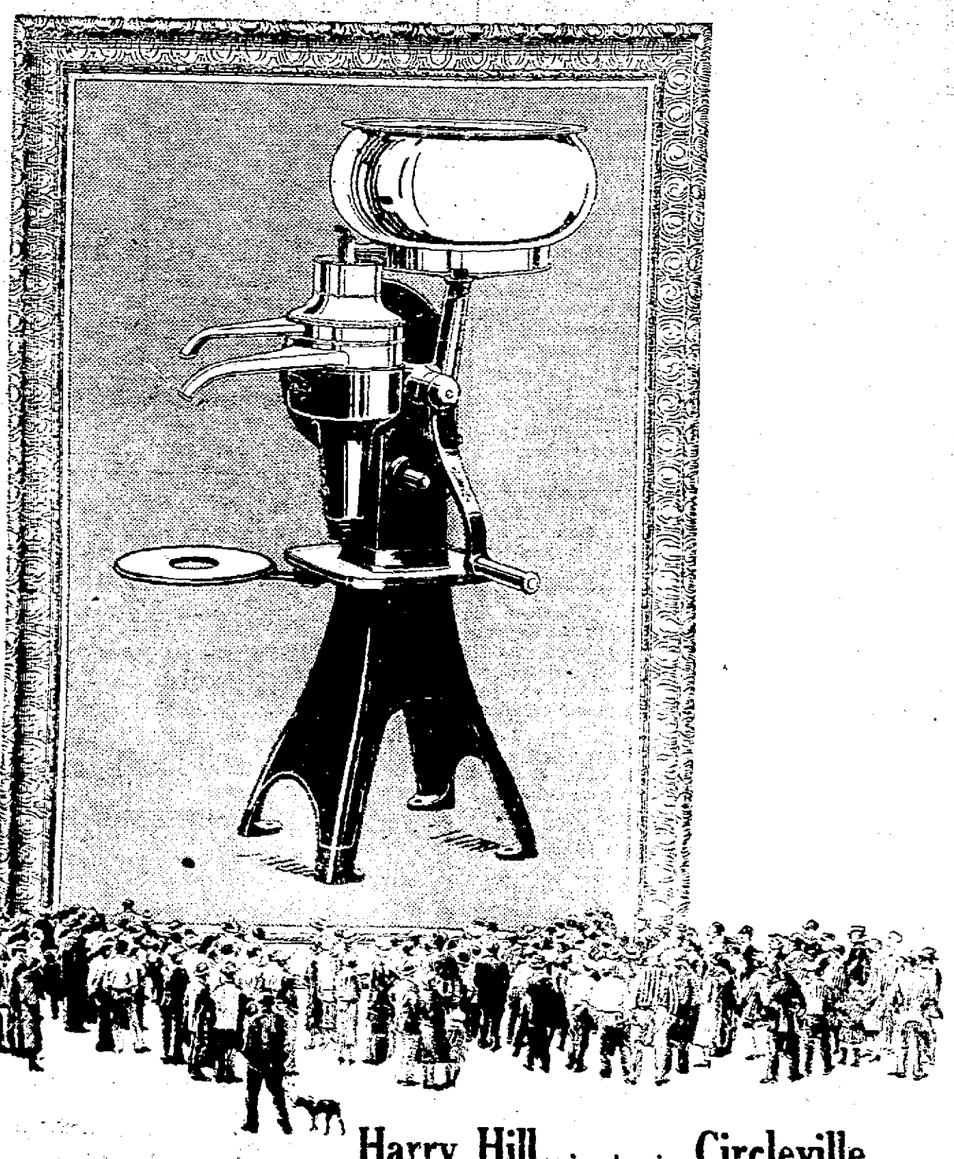
McCORMICK-DEERING CREAM SEPARATORS



You can trust this community to know a good thing when it comes along. Only a short time ago we made the announcement of the Brand New Line of McCormick-Deering Ball-Bearing Cream Separators and showed them on our floor. Now we are kept busy trying to keep up with the demand.

Last week we received A FULL CARLOAD---nearly one hundred and fifty machines and they will all go right to work increasing the efficiency and profits of dairying among our customers.

The New McCormick-Deering was bound to meet that kind of reception. It is far ahead of all past cream separator standards, re-designed in every part, thoroughly modernized throughout. Now every McCormick-Deering machine, in all six sizes, has four ball bearings, covering all high speed points and making the McCormick-Deering what we believe to be the easiest turning cream separator in the world. Every other feature equally perfected—clean skimming, positive lubrication, glossy finish, sanitation, easy cleaning, simplicity and long life.

GOOD NEWS— As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country.—Prov. 25:25.

PRAYER— O Thou God of love we bless Thee for the good news called the Gospel.

STEPHENSON MUST SERVE

D. C. Stephenson, one-time Indiana Klan leader, must serve his life sentence in prison. The Indiana supreme court has denied his petition for a rehearing of his habeas corpus suit.

It may well be as Stephenson maintains, that certain "higher ups" in Indiana are determined to keep him in prison from selfish motives. It doubtless is true that he could ruin even more reputations than he has already spoiled if he were to come out in the open and tell what he knows.

Yet, at the same time, it is permissable to be satisfied with his imprisonment. After all, he committed a dreadful crime. He is lucky that he did not pay for it with his life. However much some Indiana politicians may be working against him, the fact remains that Stephenson, the murderer, is exactly where he belongs.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Business for the earlier part of this year has not been as good as the optimists hoped for, nor as bad as the pessimists feared. In some fields it has been very good. The way building has held up has been truly remarkable. The aggregate of contracts reported to May 31, was nine per cent ahead of the same period last year, and June made a good showing. New construction contracted in the states east of the Rocky mountains for May is said to have surpassed all records for any month.

The steel output for the first five months was above that of the two previous years. Automobile production has been making a big record. Yet the total volume of business for the first six months of the year was not quite up to the previous year. The total number of railroad cars loaded with revenue freight in the 24 weeks to June 16, fell off more than four per cent below last year.

Trade has been affected by unfavorable weather, but the consuming power of the American people is so great that it seems reasonable to expect a very active fall trade.

The American people have very largely increased in wealth, and their purchasing power increases year by year. There will always be quiet times, when production has to wait for consumption to catch up, but these times are usually briefer than people expect.

There is always plenty of chance in the business world for hustlers and people who render good service, and are constantly trying to improve their goods. They need to advertise, to let the people know what they have to sell. The opportunities offered for energy and enterprise are greater than ever before, and people here in Ohio who get discouraged and go slow, always find someone else going ahead of them.

ORGANIZING THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS

The people in charge of the campaigns of the two leading presidential candidates have a tremendous job on their hands. It is not surprising that the selection of these people causes much anxiety and often controversy.

It is a job calling first for a great deal of executive ability. A person without administrative gifts would be running around in circles, wasting his own time and that of his subordinates, letting vital matters go while he attended to non-essentials. And the difficulty is increased by the fact that the work must all be done within four months. It is a brief period in which to lead a movement to shape the opinions and actions of the nation.

The difficulty is complicated by the fact that the public sentiment now says that the organization should not spend nearly as much money as formerly. Publicity of expenditure is demanded, and the party that spends an amount that seems to the voters excessive, may be worse off than one that did not have enough money for a reasonable presentation of its cause.

The people at the head of the national party organization must be ones who have the gift of arousing enthusiasm. They must be able to fire their supporters with the desire and determination to win, and incite thousands of people all over the country to get out and work for their candidate.

And the campaign manager needs to be wonderfully diplomatic. He has a lot of sensitive people to consider, who go up in the air if their favorite ideas are disregarded. It calls for people of action, of finesse, for born managers, and for enthusiasts, and there are not many who combine all these qualities in one personality.

The RAMBLER

A POEM FOR TODAY

By NORMAN W. RALSTON

THE BABY

Wonder what he's thinking of,
Sitting on his chair,
Or when folks all push and shove
Curling his one hair?

Wonder that he doesn't cry
All the whole day long,
When he opens up an eye
Someone comes along,

Chortles silly talk at him:
"Baby wanta walk?
Baby wanta sing a hymn,
Baby wanta talk?"

Chubby hands are much too weak,
Chubby arms too small;
How's a baby gonna speak—
He can only bawl!

Grown folks who are on life's wane,
Seems they ought to know,
All this nonsense is a pain——
Give the Kid a show!

Never scold a girl or boy,
'Less you're sure they're wrong,
Do not steal their share of joy,
Do not spoil their song.

Youth! Ah, soon the years have brought
Wisdom to their brow,
Pain and sorrow they'll be taught—
Leave them happy now!

NEW PROPOSALS ON C. & O. MERGER ARE MADE PUBLIC

Railroad Company Operating Through Circleville May Buy More Stock.

WASHINGTON, July 31—New proposals looking to the completion of the projected merger of the C. & O. railroad with the Pere Marquette system were made Saturday to the interstate commerce commission at Washington.

The C. & O. company, which now holds the commission's permission to acquire control of the Pere Marquette, asked authority to buy 174,000 shares of latter's common stock now owned by the Nickel Plate railroad, at a price of $133.33 per share.

The Chesapeake and Ohio also asked the commission to modify its original finding in the merger case, and to permit the company to sell 300,000 shares of its own new stock to its present stockholders at $100 per share. The funds derived from the new issue will enable the Chesapeake to complete its Pere Marquette purchase.

The commission previously ruled that the Chesapeake and Ohio should issue but 200,000 shares of new stock and require its present stockholders to pay $150 per share for it.

The Chesapeake and Ohio-Pere Marquette merger represents a final and partial success in the endeavor of O. P. and M. J. Van Swearingen of Cleveland and their associates to bring about a merger of eastern trunk lines. After the commission rejected their original proposal, which involved the fushion of the Nickel Plate, C. & O., Erie and Pere Marquette railroads the Van Swearingens put forward a scheme for combining the Chesapeake and Ohio with the Erie and Pere Marquette. The commission eliminated the Erie from the proposed consolidation, but approved the combination of the Chesapeake and Ohio with the Pere Marquette. In dealing with details of the proposal, the Chesapeake and Ohio was authorized to pay $110 per share for Pere Marquette stock owned by the Van Swearingens, and was given permission to negotiate a price for the additional Pere Marquette stock owned by the Nickel Plate railroad.

The petitions today said that the Nickel Plate was willing to take $133.33 for its Pere Marquette holdings and declared this to be a fair value. As to the new Chesapeake and Ohio stock issue contemplated, the petition protested against requiring the company's stockholders to pay more than par for new stock, questioned the commission's legal power to fix a higher figure, and argued that a lower figure was in the public interest and a matter of justice to railroad stockholders. It is expected that the commission will give opportunity for hearing and argument on the new proposal.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty blue-eyed country girl, is working as a secretary in New York. She is deeply hurt when Gary Chester, young engineer whom she had aided after an automobile accident near her mountain home, fails to recognize her. Aleda is living in the city, at the home of Marise de Rense, proprietor of the Harvest Moon Cabaret. Aleda learns that the Countess Dellamanca, a guest at the Harvest Moon, is the niece of her employer and is reputed to be in love with Gary Chester. Leaving the office one evening, several days later, Aleda meets Gary. Their first meeting since the accident. Gary seems delighted and tells Aleda of his efforts to locate her. They stop at a small restaurant nearby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

The miracle had happened. They had met again!

Outside the homebound workers were pouring out from the great skyscrapers. They surged along the sidewalks of Wall Street, overflowing into the street.

But here there was a peacefulness and isolation. It brought Aleda close to Gary Chester. She caught the warm and interested look in his gray eyes, fixed on her face. Her heart rose.

"Will you promise to answer my question?" he was repeating. His teeth were very white and even. His voice—Aleda thought—particularly well bred.

She must not let him see she was excited. To display perturbation was a sure way to decrease a man's interest, so she'd read! Oh, for a little wordly wisdom in the handling of the male!

"You ask too ." She smiled bewitchingly into the handsome, pleading eyes. "To promise anything without knowing what's coming would be absurd!"

"Then here goes. I'll risk it." He drew a quick breath. Everything about this young man seemed alert and vital. "Are you going to turn me down because we weren't conventionally introduced to one another?"

She poured herself a second cup of tea, added lemon and sugar, sipped the beverage, and then—not looking at him—said:

"Oh both occasions of our meeting, I was the one who came forward first—"

He leaned towards her. The gray eyes were filled with eagerness. "That's beside the question. Please give me a reply."

Aleda shrugged coquettishly. Her nervousness was going from her. "Do you really mind so much?"

"You know I do. I like you. I liked the frank way you spoke to me in the elevator just now. I even like your hesitation in coming in here—though I'd have been disappointed had you refused, you understand. And I'm awfully indebted for what you did for me, up-State!"

"For leaving my car blocking the road so that you had an accident?" she counter-thrust. Her mind seized on his comment on her "hesitation." She told herself, blushing: "Girls have never refused him anything. Just because I didn't leap at his invitation is a perfect novelty for him!"

She would, she must, be difficult. This was a real man. He would never value anything that was "cheap."

He smiled, his teeth a flash of white. He said: "All's well that ends well. But don't let us write the word 'finis' to this meeting. Let's make it the beginning."

Her heart beat suffocatingly. He really, then, was "interested." Didn't want to lose sight of her, a second time.

She said, in a forced, blithe tone: "You must know so many much more amusing girls than I—"

"Why so? I'm no Don Juan."

A thought — devastating — pierced her. Was he a married man?

She trembled. If that were so the dream must perish, and the romance die . . .

She murmured: "I heard—you said—you were going on a trip to Europe."

"Yes," he nodded. "Within a few weeks."

So soon? Her heart contracted. Her thoughts flashed back to his accident in the Adirondacks. "You know the Austrian Tyrol, I think?"

"Yes." His eyes were lighted. "I've had some glorious holidays in that part of the world." Then, curiously: "However did you guess?"

"Ha! Ha!" She shook a gay forefinger at him. "Maybe I heard about your doings. Maybe——" greatly daring—"I heard someone tell of the glories of Spring in the Austrian Tyrol—and a beautiful maid."

A wave of red—to her astonishment—came up beneath his tan. He laughed uncertainly, as though a little put out. Was he remembering how he had lain, after the accident, with his head in her lap? Did he know he had spoken words like those? Or (a foolish little pang came at the thought of it!) was there really some woman—a sweetheart or a wife—in whose company those holidays in the Tyrol were spent?

"Tell me about yourself." He changed the subject. He leaned back in his chair, got out his case and offered her a cigarette.

She shook her head. "I'm old-fashioned. I don't smoke. And I haven't any story to relate."

He grinned. "I like old-fashioned girls. They're so — exceptional. And as for having nothing to tell about yourself, you're mighty lucky."

"Why?"

"Isn't there a proverb that 'the happiest women have no histories'?"

They both laughed at that. And soon the pair of them were talking like old friends.

"Package just come for you by messenger, miss." Into Marise's dining room that evening came the colored maid. She handed Aleda a small box.

"But I didn't order anything—"

"Open it. Maybe it's a present?" suggested Marise.

"Whoops, dearie! Real French kids! Must have cost at least $10!" exclaimed Marise. "Look for a card—"

But there was nothing. The package bore, in an unknown hand, the name of Aleda Ray, and the address—and that was all.

"Got a millionaire admirer, what? Who is he?" Miss Goldie condescended to inquire.

"I don't know—"

"Snap out of it! You've been kissing some fellow while he was asleep—and the gloves are the forfeit—"

Aleda cried indignantly: "I never did such a thing in my life—" then crimsoned hotly. Hadn't she once pressed her lips to an unconscious "someone's" hair?

LUCKY SUMMER'S SEEDING REPORT FOR ALFALFA HAY

Conditions Better Than Usual For New Crop, Says O. S. U. Professor.

Good and evil are all jumbled up for the alfalfa grower this year. A lot of alfalfa, as well as other crops, winter killed in Ohio last winter. Rains this summer have seriously damaged what was already a short hay crop for this fall and winter. "But if there ever was a favorable season for summer feeding of alfalfa in western Ohio, this is that season," in the opinion of Dr. C. J. Willard, professor of Farm Crops at the Ohio State university. The rains which have been damaging the hay crops as they were cut, have also been making a fine reserve of soil moisture which will be available to alfalfa seeded this summer.

"Summer seeding of alfalfa in western Ohio is always a rather uncertain thing," Dr. Willard says. "More so than in northeastern Ohio. It is a little late for alfalfa seeding now, but under present conditions the chance should be better than usual for alfalfa seeded up to Aug. 15 if the soil is properly chosen and has been properly treated. The prerequisites of lime, prosphates and inoculation must, of course, have been looked after.

"A successful seeding alfalfa this summer should make a foot of growth before winter. Then comes the hard part. That growth should not be mowed, clipped or pastured. It will be hard to leave it alone when the shortage of hay begins to be felt this fall and winter, but if it is going to amount to anything next year it must be left alone this fall.

"For mechanical protective reasons the stems should be left to serve as a mulch over the roots during the winter. But more important is the leaving of the growth above ground in order to enable the roots to make their reserves for winter — something which they won't do if the upper growth is cut or pastured."

ACID STOMACH ONE OF COMMON AILMENTS

Many Factors May Cause Hyperacidity. As This Condition Is Known; Regulation of Your Diet May Correct It.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

YOU regulate your children's diet for them. You forbid them certain foods which you believe would be harmful and you limit the quantities. You may sometimes scold or punish the child for disobedience when the temptation of some forbidden favorite proves too strong for the young conscience.

DR COPELAND

And then you right about face and do just what you punished the child for doing. It is strange how many grown people are slaves to their appetites.

If people never ate food they believed to be bad for them they would never have indigestion. If they never overate or indulged at the wrong time, we would probably hear very little about acid stomach.

Acid stomach and heartburn are the terms commonly used to describe the condition known as "hyperacidity." This is one of the most common of ailments.

The symptoms are varied. The most common are a feeling of fullness and weight in the abdomen, belching of gas and food after eating, headache and sickness at the stomach.

Persons who are subject to hyperacidity know, or think they know, which foods cause the condition. And yet they go on eating them.

Nervousness is an important factor in producing hyperacidity. The condition is most apt to occur when you are nervously tired, overworked or overexcited. If in this condition you eat hurriedly, carelessly or too much heartburn is likely to be the result. There could hardly be a better formula for bringing on an attack of heartburn than to bolt a meal of rich foods and then hurry right off in a frenzy of excitement to keep a business or social appointment.

Constipation is nearly always a symptom of hyperacidity. Indeed, it is probably one of the causes of it. You cannot hope to cure hyperacidity until the constipation has been relieved.

The first step in correcting the condition is to regulate the diet. Limit rich foods, such as pastries and fried foods, condiments and malt liquors. Limit the amount of fats and starches. Take plenty of green vegetables and stewed fruits.

Overcome the constipation. If regulation of the diet will not do this at once take a tablespoonful of mineral oil daily, half an hour before breakfast or three hours after the evening meal.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

THE MORGAN RAID

Kingston, Ohio, July 28, 1928.

Dear Editor:—

In regards to the manuscript giving account of Pickaway county's regiments part in the Morgan raid in July, 1863.

The regiment sailed from Circleville on a canal packard propelled by several horses for Chillicothe which was the place that Morgan was supposed to be marching for. On arriving there it was found Morgan had passed through Piketon on to Jackson. The regiment was hastily put aboard a train of freight cars and sent to Hamden with many other troops and marched to Berlin Heights near Jackson, where Morgan was. The troops were drawn up in line of battle to protect the M. & C. railroad. Morgan made a demonstration as if he was going to attact, and fired a shot or two from his little one-horse cannon, waited until night, and rode around their left in the direction of the Ohio river. The troops were again loaded on cars and sent east to the Ohio river to prevent him from crossing. Some of them arrived at Buffington Island but the gun boats had stopped the crossing there, so Morgan with what was left of his army back tracked toward Chillicothe and came as far as Eagle Furnace, where the company of scouts to which the writer belonged came upon his rear guard and exchanged shots with them. But Shacelford's regular calvary was pressing them so close we had no chance only to see the clouds of dust they raised in their race.

But as to the Pickaway regiment when Morgan turned back, they were ordered to Marietta and boarded a steamer on the Muskingum river and sent to Zanesville. When they arrived there they received the news of the capture of Morgan some distance northeast of where they were so they were sent back to Circleville by train after two weeks of a strenuous campaign. But they were not within the borders of Fairfield or Perry counties as your statement asserts only on train on way home and as to how I came to possess the pamphlet you did not get the statement correct. Mrs. Bonner was a niece of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Turney, and a sister of my former wife. It seems as if the present generation has forgotten all about the former prominent citizens of Circleville, but to the writer I imagine I can see them when I visited there. N. J. Turney, one of the most prominent citizens of the town lived in the house where Mr. F. B. Brunner now lives. I believe where the hitching post, a colored boy, still stands, as we forerly had to anchor horses when we went to town, as a memory of former days of travel.

In conclusion will say I was in the Morgan raid, as a scout, to keep in touch with his movements and report as often as possible to headquarters although only a boy in my teens. I was in the Squirrel Hunter's campaign to defend Cincinnati a year before I was considered a veteran.

Although at the time, the raid was considered a great calamity from what I saw and learned, I believe it was a great blessing to our nation.

Like many things that comes into our lives as individuals, we cannot see the blessing on but time tells us that it is.

It was during the Brough and Valandingham campaign, and the southern rulers made themselves believe that the supporters of Valandingham would rally to the banners of the south if they had an opportunity, so Morgan was sent on that mission.

I know personally of one of Morgan's officers who visited friends in this section a few months before to find out the sentiment of the people and spy out the roads, and railroad to see where the most damage could be done.

I had two neighbors who were out-spoken sympathisers of the south. When Morgan came along they went out as scouts and rode directly into Morgan's camp at Jackson.

When introduced to Morgan, they made their stand known to him and told him the south was right and they hoped they would succeed. Morgan called his adjutant and told him to take their names, as they came north for recruits and was very much pleased to get two such promising young men as they were. Then the fun began, as I learned after the war ended, when they began to make excuses of all kinds Morgan and his officers cursed them as arrant cowards. Told them that he did not want his command disgraced by men who were such cowards, who would not fight for their principles. They were not near so noisy after that.

Of the 40 or more men in my company at least half of them were Valandingham adherents when we started out. When we returned to our homes if there was one he did not make it known. I saw some tear (butternut pins from people we met, who had worn them before the raid themselves. It showed the people of Ohio to some extent what war was, and the leaders of the south that they need not expect any help from Ohio in disrupting the Union of States. Although a native of Ross-co. I became a resident of Pickaway soon after the close of the Civil war, and many of the members of the Pickaway regiment became my friends and most of the names enrolled there became familiar to me.

STEPHENSON MUST SERVE

D. C. Stephenson, one-time Indiana Klan leader, must serve his life sentence in prison. The Indiana supreme court has denied his petition for a rehearing of his habeas corpus suit.

It may well be as Stephenson maintains, that certain "higher ups" in Indiana are determined to keep him in prison from selfish motives. It doubtless is true that he could ruin even more reputations than he has already spoiled if he were to come out in the open and tell what he knows.

Yet, at the same time, it is permissable to be satisfied with his imprisonment. After all, he committed a dreadful crime. He is lucky that he did not pay for it with his life. However much some Indiana politicians may be working against him, the fact remains that Stephenson, the murderer, is exactly where he belongs.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Business for the earlier part of this year has not been as good as the optimists hoped for, nor as bad as the pessimists feared. In some fields it has been very good. The way building has held up has been truly remarkable. The aggregate of contracts reported to May 31, was nine per cent ahead of the same period last year, and June made a good showing. New construction contracted in the states east of the Rocky mountains for May is said to have surpassed all records for any month.

The steel output for the first five months was above that of the two previous years. Automobile production has been making a big record. Yet the total volume of business for the first six months of the year was not quite up to the previous year. The total number of railroad cars loaded with revenue freight in the 24 weeks to June 16, fell off more than four per cent below last year.

Trade has been affected by unfavorable weather, but the consuming power of the American people is so great that it seems reasonable to expect a very active fall trade.

The American people have very largely increased in wealth, and their purchasing power increases year by year. There will always be quiet times, when production has to wait for consumption to catch up, but these times are usually briefer than people expect.

There is always plenty of chance in the business world for hustlers and people who render good service, and are constantly trying to improve their goods. They need to advertise, to let the people know what they have to sell. The opportunities offered for energy and enterprise are greater than ever before, and people here in Ohio who get discouraged and go slow, always find someone else going ahead of them.

ORGANIZING THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS

The people in charge of the campaigns of the two leading presidential candidates have a tremendous job on their hands. It is not surprising that the selection of these people causes much anxiety and often controversy.

It is a job calling first for a great deal of executive ability. A person without administrative gifts would be running around in circles, wasting his own time and that of his subordinates, letting vital matters go while he attended to non-essentials. And the difficulty is increased by the fact that the work must all be done within four months. It is a brief period in which to lead a movement to shape the opinions and actions of the nation.

The difficulty is complicated by the fact that the public sentiment now says that the organization should not spend nearly as much money as formerly. Publicity of expenditure is demanded, and the party that spends an amount that seems to the voters excessive, may be worse off than one that did not have enough money for a reasonable presentation of its cause.

The people at the head of the national party organization must be ones who have the gift of arousing enthusiasm. They must be able to fire their supporters with the desire and determination to win, and incite thousands of people all over the country to get out and work for their candidate.

And the campaign manager needs to be wonderfully diplomatic. He has a lot of sensitive people to consider, who go up in the air if their favorite ideas are disregarded. It calls for people of action, of finesse, for born managers, and for enthusiasts, and there are not many who combine all these qualities in one personality.

The RAMBLER

A POEM FOR TODAY

By NORMAN W. RALSTON

THE BABY

Wonder what he's thinking of,
Sitting on his chair,
Or when folks all push and shove
Curling his one hair?

Wonder that he doesn't cry
All the whole day long,
When he opens up an eye
Someone comes along,

Chortles silly talk at him:
"Baby wanta walk?
Baby wanta sing a hymn,
Baby wanta talk?"

Chubby hands are much too weak,
Chubby arms too small;
How's a baby gonna speak—
He can only bawl!

Grown folks who are on life's wane,
Seems they ought to know,
All this nonsense is a pain——
Give the Kid a show!

Never scold a girl or boy,
'Less you're sure they're wrong,
Do not steal their share of joy,
Do not spoil their song.

Youth! Ah, soon the years have brought
Wisdom to their brow,
Pain and sorrow they'll be taught—
Leave them happy now!

NEW PROPOSALS ON C. & O. MERGER ARE MADE PUBLIC

Railroad Company Operating Through Circleville May Buy More Stock.

WASHINGTON, July 31—New proposals looking to the completion of the projected merger of the C. & O. railroad with the Pere Marquette system were made Saturday to the interstate commerce commission at Washington.

The C. & O. company, which now holds the commission's permission to acquire control of the Pere Marquette, asked authority to buy 174,000 shares of latter's common stock now owned by the Nickel Plate railroad, at a price of $133.33 per share.

The Chesapeake and Ohio also asked the commission to modify its original finding in the merger case, and to permit the company to sell 300,000 shares of its own new stock to its present stockholders at $100 per share. The funds derived from the new issue will enable the Chesapeake to complete its Pere Marquette purchase.

The commission previously ruled that the Chesapeake and Ohio should issue but 200,000 shares of new stock and require its present stockholders to pay $150 per share for it.

The Chesapeake and Ohio-Pere Marquette merger represents a final and partial success in the endeavor of O. P. and M. J. Van Swearingen of Cleveland and their associates to bring about a merger of eastern trunk lines. After the commission rejected their original proposal, which involved the fushion of the Nickel Plate, C. & O., Erie and Pere Marquette railroads the Van Swearingens put forward a scheme for combining the Chesapeake and Ohio with the Erie and Pere Marquette. The commission eliminated the Erie from the proposed consolidation, but approved the combination of the Chesapeake and Ohio with the Pere Marquette. In dealing with details of the proposal, the Chesapeake and Ohio was authorized to pay $110 per share for Pere Marquette stock owned by the Van Swearingens, and was given permission to negotiate a price for the additional Pere Marquette stock owned by the Nickel Plate railroad.

The petitions today said that the Nickel Plate was willing to take $133.33 for its Pere Marquette holdings and declared this to be a fair value. As to the new Chesapeake and Ohio stock issue contemplated, the petition protested against requiring the company's stockholders to pay more than par for new stock, questioned the commission's legal power to fix a higher figure, and argued that a lower figure was in the public interest and a matter of justice to railroad stockholders. It is expected that the commission will give opportunity for hearing and argument on the new proposal.

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty blue-eyed country girl, is working as a secretary in New York. She is deeply hurt when Gary Chester, young engineer whom she had aided after an automobile accident near her mountain home, fails to recognize her. Aleda is living in the city, at the home of Marise de Rense, proprietor of the Harvest Moon Cabaret. Aleda learns that the Countess Dellamanca, a guest at the Harvest Moon, is the niece of her employer and is reputed to be in love with Gary Chester. Leaving the office one evening, several days later, Aleda meets Gary. Their first meeting since the accident. Gary seems delighted and tells Aleda of his efforts to locate her. They stop at a small restaurant nearby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

The miracle had happened. They had met again!

Outside the homebound workers were pouring out from the great skyscrapers. They surged along the sidewalks of Wall Street, overflowing into the street.

But here there was a peacefulness and isolation. It brought Aleda close to Gary Chester. She caught the warm and interested look in his gray eyes, fixed on her face. Her heart rose.

"Will you promise to answer my question?" he was repeating. His teeth were very white and even. His voice—Aleda thought—particularly well bred.

She must not let him see she was excited. To display perturbation was a sure way to decrease a man's interest, so she'd read! Oh, for a little wordly wisdom in the handling of the male!

"You ask too ——" She smiled bewitchingly into the handsome, pleading eyes. "To promise anything without knowing what's coming would be absurd!"

"Then here goes. I'll risk it." He drew a quick breath. Everything about this young man seemed alert and vital. "Are you going to turn me down because we weren't conventionally introduced to one another?"

She poured herself a second cup of tea, added lemon and sugar, sipped the beverage, and then—not looking at him—said:

"Oh both occasions of our meeting, I was the one who came forward first——"

He leaned towards her. The gray eyes were filled with eagerness. "That's beside the question. Please give me a reply."

Aleda shrugged coquettishly. Her nervousness was going from her. "Do you really mind so much?"

"You know I do. I like you. I liked the frank way you spoke to me in the elevator just now. I even like your hesitation in coming in here—though I'd have been disappointed had you refused, you understand. And I'm awfully indebted for what you did for me, up-State!"

"For leaving my car blocking the road so that you had an accident?" she counter-thrust. Her mind seized on his comment on her "hesitation." She told herself, blushing: "Girls have never refused him anything. Just because I didn't leap at his invitation is a perfect novelty for him!"

She would, she must, be difficult. This was a real man. He would never value anything that was "cheap."

He smiled, his teeth a flash of white. He said: "All's well that ends well. But don't let us write the word 'finis' to this meeting. Let's make it the beginning."

Her heart beat suffocatingly. He really, then, was "interested." Didn't want to lose sight of her, a second time.

"Ha! Ha!" She shook a gay forefinger at him. "Maybe I heard about your doings. Maybe——" greatly daring—"I heard someone tell of the glories of Spring in the Austrian Tyrol—and a beautiful maid."

A wave of red—to her astonishment—came up beneath his tan. He laughed uncertainly, as though a little put out. Was he remembering how he had lain, after the accident, with his head in her lap? Did he know he had spoken words like those? And then you right about face and do just what you punished the child for doing. It is strange how many grown people are slaves to their appetities.

If people never ate food they believed to be bad for them they would never have indigestion. If they never overate or indulged at the wrong time we would probably hear very little about acid stomach.

Acid stomach and heartburn are the terms commonly used to describe the condition known as "hyperacidity." This is one of the most common of ailments.

The symptoms are varied. The most common are a feeling of fullness and weight in the abdomen, belching of gas and food after eating, headache and sickness at the stomach.

Persons who are subject to hyperacidity know, or think they know, which foods cause the condition. And yet they go on eating them.

Nervousness is an important factor in producing hyperacidity. The condition is most apt to occur when you are nervously tired, overworked or overexcited. If in this condition you eat hurriedly, carelessly or too much heartburn is likely to be the result. There could hardly be a better formula for bringing on an attack of heartburn than to bolt a meal of rich foods and then hurry right off in a frenzy of excitement to keep a business or social appointment.

Constipation is nearly always a symptom of hyperacidity. Indeed it is probably one of the causes of it. You cannot hope to cure hyperacidity until the constipation has been relieved.

The first step in correcting the condition is to regulate the diet, limit rich foods, such as pastries and fried foods, condiments and malt liquors. Limit the amount of fats and starches. Take plenty of green vegetables and stewed fruits.

Overcome the constipation. If regulation of the diet will not do this at once take a tablespoonful of mineral oil daily half an hour before breakfast or three hours after the evening meal.

THE MORGAN RAID

Kingston, Ohio, July 28, 1928.

Dear Editor:—

In regards to the manuscript giving account of Pickaway county's regiments part in the Morgan raid in July, 1863.

The regiment sailed from Circleville on a canal packard propelled by several horses for Chillicothe which was the place that Morgan was supposed to be marching for. On arriving there it was found Morgan had passed through Piketon on to Jackson. The regiment was hastily put aboard a train of freight cars and sent to Hamden with many other troops and marched to Berlin Heights near Jackson, where Morgan was. The troops were drawn up in line of battle to protect the M. & C. railroad. Morgan made a demonstration as if he was going to attact, and fired a shot or two from his little one-horse cannon, waited until night, and rode around their left in the direction of the Ohio river. The troops were again loaded on cars and sent east to the Ohio river to prevent him from crossing. Some of them arrived at Buffington Island but the gun boats had stopped the crossing there, so Morgan with what was left of his army back tracked toward Chillicothe and came as far as Eagle Furnace, where the company of scouts to which the writer belonged came upon his rear guard and exchanged shots with them. But Shacelford's regular calvary was pressing them so close we had no chance only to see the clouds of dust they raised in their race.

But as to the Pickaway regiment when Morgan turned back, they were ordered to Marietta and boarded a steamer on the Muskingum river and sent to Zanesville. When they arrived there they received the news of the capture of Morgan some distance northeast of where they were so they were sent back to Circleville by train after two weeks of a strenuous campaign. But they were not within the borders of Fairfield or Perry counties as your statement asserts only on train on way home and as to how I came to possess the pamphlet you did not get the statement correct. Mrs. Bonner was a niece of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Turney, and a sister of my former wife. It seems as if the present generation has forgotten all about the former prominent citizens of Circleville, but to the writer I imagine I can see them when I visited there, N. J. Turney, one of the most prominent citizens of the town lived in the house where Mr. F. B. Brunner now lives. I believe where the hitching post, a colored boy, still stands, as we forerly had to anchor horses when we went to town, as a memory of former days of travel.

In conclusion will say I was in the Morgan raid, as a scout, to keep in touch with his movements and report as often as possible to headquarters although only a boy in my teens. I was in the Squirrel Hunter's campaign to defend Cincinnati a year before I was considered a veteran.

Altnough at the time the raid was considered a great calamity from what I saw and learned, I believe it was a great blessing to our nation.

Like many things that comes into our lives as individuals, we cannot see the blessing then but time tells us that it is.

It was during the Brough and Valandingham campaign, and the southern rulers made themselves believe that the supporters of Valandingham would rally to the banners of the south if they had an opportunity, so Morgan was sent on that mission.

I know personally of one of Morgan's officers who visited friends in this section a few months before to find out the sentiment of the people and spy out the roads, and railroad to see where the most damage could be done.

I had two neighbors who were out-spoken sympathisers of the south. When Morgan came along they went out as scouts and rode directly into Morgan's camp at Jackson.

When introduced to Morgan, they made their stand known to him and told him the south was right and they hoped they would succeed. Morgan called his adjutant and told him to take their names, as they came north for recruits and was very much pleased to get two such promising young men as they were. Then the fun began, as I learned after the war ended, when they began to make excuses of all kinds Morgan and his officers cursed them as arrant cowards. Told them that he did not want his command disgraced by men who were such cowards, who would not fight for their principles. They were not near so noisy after that.

Of the 40 or more men in my company at least half of them were Valandingham adherents when we started out. When we returned to our homes if there was one he did not make it known. I saw some tear butternut pins from people we met, who had worn them before the raid themselves. It showed the people of Ohio to some extent what war was, and the leaders of the south, that they need not expect any help from Ohio in disrupting the Union of States. Although a native of Ross-co. I became a resident of Pickaway soon after the close of the Civil war, and many of the members of the Pickaway regiment became my friends and most of the names enrolled there became familiar to me.

N. J. Dunlap,
Kingston, Ohio.

Premier Athletes Of U. S. To Perform Today

EXPECTED TO MAINTAIN BIG OLYMPIC LEAD

British Empire Shows Its Strength In Day Disastrous To Americans.

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

AMSTERDAM, July 31.—United States called on some of its premier athletic performers today to carry on with the outstanding work that has placed the stars and stripes well in the van in the IXth Olympiad.

Even though the wearers of the red, white and blue shield were well out in front in point scores, Monday was a disastrous day for them. Athletes from the British empire captured the 100 meters dash, the 400 meters hurdle and the hammer throw—a trio of upsets that was far from heartening to the United States ambitions for another Olympic victory.

Today the call went out to Lloyd Hahn, Ray Watson, John Sittig, Earl Fuller, Elizabeth Robinson, Edward Ramm, the Georgian, Dehart Hubbard of Michigan, to press forward the claims of the United States for greater athletic supremacy.

Theirs was a demanding task. Hahn, best of America's middle distance men, was nervous and determined to win. He faced such worthy foes as Douglas Lowe the crack Briton. Phil Edwards, the dusky Canadian, Byhlen of Sweden, and Martin of France. But Hahn had confidence, based mainly on his great trial showings in the U. ited States.

The program for today includes:

Finals

800 meters.
Women's 100 meters dash.
Women's discus.

Qualifications

200 meter dash.
5,000 meters run.

As mid morning found the first of the spectators wandering towards the great red brick bowl—the United States still maintained a 26 point advantage among the nations contesting for honors. The scores today stood:

United States, 55; Great Britain, 19; Finland, 17; Sweden, 16; Canada, 10; Ireland, 10; Germany, 9; France, 5; Italy, 4 Philippines, 3; South Africa, 2.

It is not such a great margin. This advantage can easily be wiped out if there are a few more upsets such as characterized yesterday's Olympic program.

The United States group stood back and watched Lord David Burchley lope along easily through the 400 meters hurdles to defeat F. Morgan Taylor and Frank Curel, the American hurdles stars; they saw Percy Williams, a boy from Canada who had little been considered, dash to the tape in the lead in the 100 meters with Frank Wykoff and Bob McCallister running fourth and sixth.

Pat O'Callighan, a giant Irishman who was trained by John Flanagan, the greatest of Ireland's recent athletes, further took heart from the American squad when he tossed the hammer 168 feet 7 1-2 inches while Edmund Black, best of the Yankees, could do no better than third place.

Those things are disconcerting. United States had been figured well in all three events. Frank Wykoff had been expected to run away with the hundred meters.

But the Yankee contingent is far from downhearted. The young collegians making up the bulk of the United States team are accustomed to defeat and merely shrug and point to what will happen today.

When officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association dropped William T. Tilden from the Davis Cup team the other day, they probably consigned him to the historians.

Unless Tilden can regain his amateur status at the hearing that will be held when he returns to this country, he is apt to quit the game. It is doubtful if Big Bill will ever turn professional. He has had two outstanding chances and he rejected them both. The first one came three years ago when Tilden was at the height of his powers. A member of an exclusive Philadelphia club went to Tilden and said:

"We will give you $15,000 a year to become tennis instructor at our club."

Tilden laughed.

"All right, we'll double the salary," said the club member.

Big Bill explained that he wouldn't turn professional for any salary.

Turned Down Pyle

The second chance was when C. C. Pyle was waving the money bags in front of the world's leading players and urging them to become professionals. Suzanne Lenglen succumbed. So did Vincent Richards and Mary K. Browne. But not Tilden.

Back of Big Bill's desire to retain the status of an amateur is his love for the roar of the crowd. He is a gallery player and admits it. Put Tilden on a desert island with a racquet and an opponent and he would play efficient, mechanical, listless tennis. Surround him with a crowd and he becomes six feet, two inches of nerves, furious and slashing as he rages up and down the court.

His love for the gallery is what makes him shock staid Wimbledon by taking off his shoes and playing bare-footed on grass courts. It is what causes him to net a ball purposely when he believes the umpire has deprived his opponent of a point unjustly. The next minute Tilden is likely to turn around and jump on the umpire for not giving him a point that he thinks he earned. That's why the French cheer him, win or lose.

What if Tilden is found guilty when he is tried next month for violating the amateur rules by writing newspaper articles? The publicity he receives probably will enable him to have another fling at the movies. Or he might try the stage again.

Loves a Good Fight

Despite the fact that Big Bill has devoted the best years of his life to the cause of American tennis, he has made enough money to assure him a comfortable income for the rest of his life.

But suppose he is reinstated? Then he will begin a vigorous campaign to improve the Davis Cup team for 1929. For Tilden is going to be connected with tennis in some capacity just as long as fate and the United States Lawn Tennis association will let him.

Next to tennis, Tilden loves a good fight. He has had plenty. Julian S. Myrick got into one with him last year when he tried to persuade Tilden to stay out of minor tournaments and conserve himself for the Davis Cup matches. Tilden didn't bother to answer. He just went out and entered every tourament he could find.

That was why he walked on the courts of the Germantown Crisket club last September, a broken, burned-out athlete, and lost the deciding match to Rene Lacoste in four grueling sets. At that, most of the cheering that followed was for Tilden.

HERE'S 1928 OLYMPIC CHAMPIONS TO DATE

Running high jump—Robert King, United States.
10,000 meters run—Paavo Nurmi, Finland.
100 meters dash—Percy Williams, Canada.
400 meters hurdles—Lord David Burghley, England.
16 pound hammer throw—Pat O'Gallighan, Ireland.

Baseball

Yesterday's hero—Mickey Cochrane, whose single scored Bishop in the ninth inning, enabling the Philadelphia Athletics to defeat the St Louis Browns, 5 to 4.

The Cleveland Indians proved that their win over the New York Yankees Sunday was no accident by downing the leaders, 4 to 2. George Pipgras was again the starting pitcher for New York, the tribe finding him for ten safeties. Walter Miller allowed eleven scattered hits including a homer by Babe Ruth, his 41st of the season. Langford led the attack for the Indians getting three hits in four times at bat.

Sam Gray opposed his former teammates, the Athletics, on the mound for the St. Louis Browns. Gray was in great form, allowing Philadelphia nine hits, while Rommel and Walberg were touched for fifteen, but lost a heartbreaker, 5 to 4. Al Simmons hit safely three times out of four tries at bat while Schulte, Bettencourt and Brannon led the attack for the Browns.

The Pittsburgh Pirates took both ends of a double-header from the Braves, winning the first 2 to 1 and the second 6 to 5. Ed Brandt's wildness cost the Braves the opening game, the Boston pitcher walking four and allowing four hits. Ray Kremer was touched for six hits by Boston. In the second game Hill and Grimes pitched well, allowing nine hits while Greenfield, Cantwell and Barnes were found for twelve.

The New York Gianis made it three out of four when they defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 1. This victory advanced the Gianis to third place and shoved the Cubs into fourth place. Faulkner allowed the Cubs four hits. Cuyler's homer saving them a shutout.

Jess Petty had the better of Eppa Rixey in a pitchers' duel, the Brooklyn Robins defeating the Reds, 2 to 1. Each hurler allowed eight hits.

It required 16 innings, [illegible] hours and five minutes for the Phillies to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8 to 7. Thirty-five players took part in the contest. A wild pitch by Haines started the St. Louis defeat. Nine pitchers were used by the two teams.

Rice's home run in the ninth inning broke up a pitching duel between Big Ed Morris and Ken Holloway to give Detroit a 2 to 1 victory over Boston.

Alphonse Thomas had a great day, blanking the Senators 6 to 0. The White Sox bunched hits off Braxton in the second and fifth inning. Hunnefield hit a home run with two men on base in the fifth.

TONIGHT WILL SEE OPEN AIR BOUTS FOUGHT

Dewey Park To Be Scene of Several Fast Tilts For City Championships.

Tonight's the night when fighters toss mitts at each other at Dewey Park in the first open-air fight of the season, and a large crowd is expected for the 30 rounds of boxing.

The three main-go bouts are naturally grudge fights, with city belts at stake and each boy battling for the championship at their respective weights.

A line-up of substitutes are on hand in case any of those billed for the card fail to show up, so fans won't be disappointed. If the fighter stalls, or fails to please the fans, his purse is forfeited.

The arena has been completed and will afford good seats for a capacity crowd.

In the feature six-round fistic affair for the night, "Farmer" Scott will oppose Mickey O'Riley for the featherweight title of the city at 122 pounds. This is a scrap that brooks as much rivalry as the Bloom-O'Dowd series. The fighting Irish wildcat and the Northside bulldog are trained and pepped up to tear each other apart tonight, and it looks like a real fight.

Joe Johnson, the black streak, will oppose Kid Brown, colored champion of Chillicothe, Bill Grant having decided not to oppose Joe.

The show will start at 8 p. m., prompt, with an admission of 50 cents and just a dime for the ladies and kids.

BOXING

NEW YORK, July 31.—Leo Lomski, of Aberneen, Wash., 175½, won a technical knockout in the fourth round over Eddie Clark, of Atlantic City, 176, at Dexter Park arena, Jamaica, last night. The bout, which had been scheduled for 10 rounds, was stopped by the referee. Marco Polo, Brooklyn, 139, was awarded a 10 round decision over Paul Hoffman of Holland, 188½.

RENNSELEAR, N. Y.—Osk Till, Rochester, N. Y., 160, won a 10 round decision from Charley Arthurs, New York, 158. Mike Marcelles, 120 knocked out Solly Barody, 121, in the third round of a scheduled 10 round bout.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa.—Whitey "Brooks" Lauback, 146, of Williamsport, gained a 10 round decision over George Mallick, 144, here last night. Sailor Matti, 144, of Shenandoah, took an eight round decision over Walter Dickinson, 144, of California, Pa.

BOXING WORLD AWAITS GENE AND HIS MOVE

Prize Ring May Be Without Champion First Time In 25 Years If He Quits

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 31.—The boxing world waited today for Gene Tunney's "important announcement," which may leave the fistic realm without a heavyweight champion for the first time in a quarter of a century.

After lengthy conferences with Tex Rickard and William Muldoon, New York state boxing commissioner, Tunney decided upon his plans for the future, which he was to announce at a banquet honoring Rickard, Muldoon and the boxing writers of greater New York.

Indications were that Tunney would announce his retirement after one more bout, probably in September, 1929.

Tunney is under contract with Rickard to engage in another bout, and there was every reason to believe the champion would forget the ring for a year and come back in the fall of 1929 to box once more before casting aside the gloves which have brought him more than a million dollars in his last three bouts.

The titleholder may be through with the ring forever, but he appeared anything but a man ready to retire yesterday when he chatted informally with newspapermen in his suite at the Hotel Biltmore.

"Reports concerning my retirement have been grossly misinterpreted," Tunney said.

If Tunney retires from the ring, it will not be to make a name for himself in another field of endeavor, but to enjoy life.

The boxing champion flatly denied he planned an early marriage, a life of seclusion, a career in another field or anything of the sort.

"Great scott," Tunney said. "I have no desire to do those things people claim for me. I am not considering marriage. I am not contemplating a trip with Commander Byrd on his polar expedition. I am not going to sell bonds. I am not gonig to study philosophy in Europe."

About his future, Tunney said that he planned to leave Monday for a place south of Quebec City, Canada, for a vacation in the Canadian woods, returning in time to sail on the Mauretania August 16 for Southampton, England. The champion will join Thornton Wilder, the novelist, and together they will be guests of President Cosgrace of the Irish free state at the Tailtean games, the Irish Olympics. Later they will hike over the European continent, visiting France, Spain and Germany.

Tunney plans to sail on his return voyage October 15, and arrive October 27, in time for the presidential election.

WHAT BIG STARS DID YESTERDAY

Ball bearing spring shackles—a new and exclusive Studebaker feature. Greatest improvement in motoring comfort since the balloon tire! Freedom of spring action never before considered possible. No squeaks, rattles and adjustments. Each shackle contains lubricant for upwards of 20,000 miles—a great advance over any other system of chassis lubrication.

Dramatic proof of the ease with which these new Studebakers may be driven is offered by the remarkable records recently established by girls driving under official A. A. A. supervision at Atlantic City Speedway. For 500 miles, these girls with only ordinary experience maintained an average speed of 70 miles per hour in The President Sedan, 68 in The Erskine, 60 in The Dictator and 77 in The Commander Roadster.

Straight Eight engine used in The President. 109 velvet horsepower. The smoothness with which this great motor drives the luxurious President sedans at sustained high speeds proves it the finest power plant ever placed in an automobile. Yet The President sells at a One-Profit price—$1685 to $2485 at factory. Nineteen 8-cylinder sedans have less horsepower yet sell at higher prices.

EXPECTED TO MAINTAIN BIG OLYMPIC LEAD

British Empire Shows Its Strength In Day Disastrous To Americans.

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

AMSTERDAM, July 31.—United States called on some of its premier athletic performers today to carry on with the outstanding work that has placed the stars and stripes well in the van in the IXth Olympiad.

Even though the wearers of the red, white and blue shield were well out in front in point scores, Monday was a disastrous day for them. Athletes from the British empire captured the 100 meters dash, the 400 meters hurdle and the hammer throw—a trio of upsets that was far from heartening to the United States ambitions for another Olympic victory.

Today the call went out to Lloyd Hahn, Ray Watson, John Sittig, Earl Fuller, Elizabeth Robinson, Edward Ramm, the Georgian, Dehart Hubbard of Michigan, to press forward the claims of the United States for greater athletic supremacy.

Theirs was a demanding task. Hahn, best of America's middle distance men, was nervous and determined to win. He faced such worthy foes as Douglas Lowe the crack Briton, Phil Edwards, the dusky Canadian, Byhlen of Sweden, and Martin of France. But Hahn had confidence, based mainly on his great trial showings in the United States.

The program for today includes:

Finals

800 meters.
Women's 100 meters dash.
Women's discus.

200 meter dash.
5,000 meters run.

As mid morning found the first of the spectators wandering towards the great red brick bowl—the United States still maintained a 26 point advantage among the nations contesting for honors. The scores today stood:

United States, 55; Great Britain, 19; Finland, 17; Sweden, 16; Canada, 10; Ireland, 10; Germany, 9; France, 5; Italy, 4 Philippines, 3; South Africa, 2.

It is not such a great margin. This advantage can easily be wiped out if there are a few more upsets such as characterized yesterday's Olympic program.

The United States group stood back and watched Lord David Burchley lope along easily through the 400 meters hurdles to defeat F. Morgan Taylor and Frank Curel, the American hurdles stars; they saw Percy Williams, a boy from Canada who had little been considered, dash to the tape in the lead in the 100 meters with Frank Wykoff and Bob McCallister running fourth and sixth.

Pat O'Callighan, a giant Irishman who was trained by John Flanagan, the greatest of Ireland's recent athletes, further took heart from the American squad when he tossed the hammer 168 feet 7 1-2 inches while Edmund Black, best of the Yankees, could do no better than third place.

In the feature six-round fistic affair for the night, "Farmer" Scott will oppose Mickey O'Riley for the featherweight title of the city at 122 pounds. This is a scrap that brooks as much rivalry as the Bloom-O'Dowd series. The fighting Irish wildcat and the Northside bulldog are trained and pepped up to tear each other apart tonight, and it looks like a real fight.

Joe Johnson, the black streak, will oppose Kid Brown, colored champion of Chillicothe, Bill Grant having decided not to oppose Joe.

The show will start at 8 p. m., prompt, with an admission of 50 cents and just a dime for the ladies and kids.

BOXING WORLD AWAITS GENE AND HIS MOVE

Prize Ring May Be Without Champion First Time In 25 Years If He Quits

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 31.—The boxing world waited today for Gene Tunney's "important announcement," which may leave the fistic realm without a heavyweight champion for the first time in a quarter of a century.

After lengthy conferences with Tex Rickard and William Muldoon, New York state boxing commissioner, Tunney decided upon his plans for the future, which he was to announce at a banquet honoring Rickard, Muldoon and the boxing writers of greater New York.

Indications were that Tunney would announce his retirement after one more bout, probably in September, 1929.

Tunney is under contract with Rickard to engage in another bout, and there was every reason to believe the champion would forget the ring for a year and come back in the fall of 1929 to box once more before casting aside the gloves which have brought him more than a million dollars in his last three bouts.

The titleholder may be through with the ring forever, but he appeared anything but a man ready to retire yesterday when he chatted informally with newspapermen in his suite at the Hotel Biltmore.

"Reports concerning my retirement have been grossly misinterpreted," Tunney said.

If Tunney retires from the ring, it will not be to make a name for himself in another field of endeavor ,but to enjoy life.

The boxing champion flatly denied he planned an early marriage, a life of seclusion, a career in another field or anything of the sort.

"Great scott," Tunney said. "I have no desire to do those things people claim for me. I am not considering marriage. I am not contemplating a trip with Commander Byrd on his polar expedition. I am not going to sell bonds. I am not gonig to study philosophy in Europe."

About his future, Tunney said that he planned to leave Monday for a place south of Quebec City, Canada, for a vacation in the Canadian woods, returning in time to sail on the Mauretania August 16 for Southampton, England. The champion will join Thornton Wilder, the novelist, and together they will be guests of President Cosgrace of the Irish free state at the Tailtean games, the Irish Olympics. Later they will hike over the European continent, visiting France, Spain and Germany.

Tunney plans to sail on his return voyage October 15, and arrive October 27, in time for the presidential election.

New features in the NEW STUDEBAKERS ... See them now

Ball bearing spring shackles—a new and exclusive Studebaker feature. Greatest improvement in motoring comfort since the balloon tire! Freedom of spring action never before considered possible. No squeaks, rattles and adjustments. Each shackle contains lubricant for upwards of 20,000 miles—a great advance over any other system of chassis lubrication.

Even the brief glimpse of these smart new Studebakers, as they flash past on open road or boulevard, tells its story of rare body artistry and low, fleet lines.

But come in now and examine, at your leisure, the repeated evidence of Studebaker engineering genius, expressed in the luxury, comfort and performance of these splendid motor cars!

Then drive one. You may have owned a dozen costly cars, but you'll find that in these new Studebakers American inventive genius has surpassed them all. No other car ever built can give you such a wonderful ride.

Only a few of the great Studebaker achievements are pictured here. There are many more. No matter how much or little you plan to invest in your new car, you will want to see them. Come in today!

STUDEBAKER'S FOUR NEW LINES

| The President Eight | $1685 to $2485 |
| The Commander | 1435 to 1665 |
| The Dictator | 1185 to 1395 |
| The Erskine | 835 to 1045 |

All Prices f. o. b. factory

Straight Eight engine used in The President. 109 velvet horsepower. The smoothness with which this great motor drives the luxurious President sedans at sustained high speeds proves it the finest power plant ever placed in an automobile. Yet The President sells at a One-Profit price—$1685 to $2485 at factory. Nineteen 8-cylinder sedans have less horsepower yet sell at higher prices.

BOVINE T. B. IS REDUCED HALF IN PAST SIX YEARS

Bovine tuberculosis in the United States has been reduced one-half since 1922, according to a map just published by the United States department of agriculture. The map is based on four surveys which showed the per cent of tuberculosis among cattle to have been four per cent in 1922, 3.3 per cent in 1924, 2.8 per cent in 1926, and two per cent in 1928.

In the new map 499 counties are shown as being practically free from the disease, that is having less than .3 per cent tubercular cattle. The map also shows the areas now most heavily infected contain less than six per cent of the cattle of the United States. In many of these areas, it is pointed out, active eradication campaigns were going on at the time the survey was made.

In discussing the progress made Dr. A. E. Wight, chief of division in charge of the eradication work, declared that "this survey should be most encouraging to those identified with the campaign— not only officials, but all others interested in the livestock industry. The survey indicates, however, that there is still much to be accomplished before the campaign may be considered as completed. Comprehensive programs of work have been adopted in several states and have been of extreme benefit to the campaign. It is believed that all states should, so far as possible, adopt a definite campaign of work."

FOOD CLUB TO ENTER IN HEALTH CONTEST

The meeting was called to order by President Mary E. Rader. The roll call was answered by telling "Why We Joined the Club." Mary scripture.

Representatives were then selected for the health contest. These representatives will be examined, and the one which, after being examined by a doctor, makes the highest score, will be entered in the state contest. These are the representatives: Helen Rhoads, Nellie Alexander, Rose Mary McKenzie, Florence Bitzer, Charlotte Jane Buchannan, Alys Wharton, Lucy Strawser and Goldie Strawser.

After the selection of these girls a talk on food demonstrations followed, and plans for the State fair were made. This preceded the penny drill and the appointment of the social committee.

The meeting was then turned over to the program committee with the following members taking part in the program: Frances Anderson, Golda Strawser, Ruth McKenzie and Marjorie Carroll.

Refreshments were then served by the hostesses: Mrs. E. O. Dumm and daughters. The next meeting on August 10th will be held at the home of the treasurer of the club, Alys Wharton.

THAT advertising is a service to the public.

THAT this kind of service is of assistance to the public.

THAT now is the time for some business concerns to quit thinking that the public owes them something and think of what they owe the public.

THAT the public expects to know about the business world and what they have to sell through the printed page.

THAT every business should look ahead; they must anticipate, they must employ well-established policies of modern business; they should have faith in their city, faith in their business, confidence in themselves, and then ADVERTISE!

THAT often honest pessimism is better than dishonest optimism.

MERCHANDISE THAT IS GOOD ENOUGH TO SELL IS GOOD ENOUGH TO ADVERTISE. THE POWER OF ADVERTISING IS SO STRONG THAT THE MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE WILL BUY ONLY FROM THOSE WHO ADVERTISE THEIR WARES.

BOVINE T. B. IS REDUCED HALF IN PAST SIX YEARS

Bovine tuberculosis in the United States has been reduced one-half since 1922, according to a map just published by the United States department of agriculture. The map is based on four surveys which showed the per cent of tuberculosis among cattle to have been four per cent in 1922, 3.3 per cent in 1924, 2.8 per cent in 1926, and two per cent in 1928.

In the new map 499 counties are shown as being practically free from the disease, that is ,having less than .3 per cent tubercular cattle. The map also shows the areas now most heavily infected contain less than six per cent of the cattle of the United States. In many of these areas, it is pointed out, active eradication campaigns were going on at the time the survey was made.

In discussing the progress made Dr. A. E. Wight, chief of division in charge of the eradication work, declared that "this survey should be most encouraging to those identified with the campaign— not only officials, but all others interested in the livestock industry. The survey indicates, however, that there is still much to be accomplished before the campaign may be considered as completed. Comprehensive programs of work have been adopted in several states and have been of extreme benefit to the campaign. It is believed that all states should, so far as possible, adopt a definite campaign of work."

FOOD CLUB TO ENTER IN HEALTH CONTEST

The meeting was called to order by President Mary E. Rader. The roll call was answered by telling "Why We Joined the Club." Mary scripture.

Representatives were then selected for the health contest. These representatives will be examined, and the one which, after being examined by a doctor, makes the highest score, will be entered in the state contest. These are the representatives: Helen Rhoads, Nellie Alexander, Rose Mary McKenzie, Florence Bitzer, Charlotte Jane Buchannan, Alys Wharton, Lucy Strawser and Goldie Strawser.

After the selection of these girls a talk on food demonstrations followed, and plans for the State fair were made. This preceded the penny drill and the appointment of the social committee.

The meeting was then turned over to the program committee with the following members taking part in the program: Frances Anderson, Golda Strawser, Ruth McKenzie and Marjorie Carroll.

Refreshments were then served by the hostesses; Mrs. E. O. Dumm and daughters. The next meeting on August 10th will be held at the home of the treasurer of the club, Alys Wharton.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

BY
EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT advertising is a service to the public.

THAT this kind of service is of assistance to the public.

THAT now is the time for some business concerns to quit thinking that the public owes them something and think of what they owe the public.

THAT the public expects to know about the business world and what they have to sell through the printed page.

THAT every business should look ahead; they must anticipate, they must employ well-established policies of modern business; they should have faith in their city, faith in their business, confidence in themselves, and then ADVERTISE!

THAT often honest pessimism is better than dishonest optimism.

MERCHANDISE THAT IS GOOD ENOUGH TO SELL IS GOOD ENOUGH TO ADVERTISE. THE POWER OF ADVERTISING IS SO STRONG THAT THE MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE WILL BUY ONLY FROM THOSE WHO ADVERTISE THEIR WARES.

Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. James P. Moffitt, with Miss Abbie Mills Clarke accompanist, sang "the hymns; "In The Cross," "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Rock of Ages." Rev. E. S. Toensmeier read "Crossing the Bar" during the committal service.

CARD OF THANKS

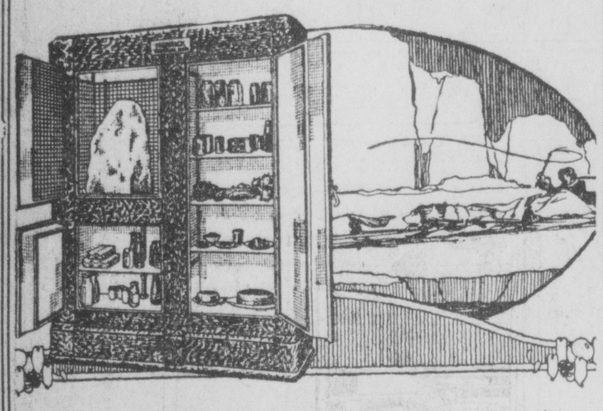
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the neighbors, friends and every one who so kindly rendered their services and extended their sympathy, during the sickness and after the death of Roy L. Wilson.

Mrs. Roy L. Wilson,
Mrs. Virginia Wilson,
Miss Alice M. Wilson.

THE HERRICK

A Masterpiece, Yet Economical



The system of circulation of air within the refrigerator—the quality and amount of insulation—the thorough, substantial construction of the refrigerator makes the

HERRICK

"The Aristocrat of Refrigerators."

The constant circulation of air in the HERRICK leaves the foods pure and sweet—the mineral wool insulation in the HERRICK makes the refrigerator airtight and waterproof, and is the most successful nonconductor of heat and cold—and its special construction insures long life after other refrigerators have become "too old."

The HERRICK comes in sizes for every family.
